REA Leader Calls for New Agency

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Ella, general manager, National Rural Electric Cooperative association, called for creation of a "rural cooperative administration" to spearhead a massive assault on the "poverty of opportunity" in rural America.

The proposed agency would have broad lending powers and would be charged with the responsibility for promoting a variety of cooperative organizations in rural America. Ella said the agency should be backed by the "resources and authority needed to do a dynamic job in the style of the rural electrification administration in the 1930s and 1940s."

U.S. Wool Executive Urges Agency to Consider Tariff

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 10 (AP)—Prompt removal of raw wool from the list of items being considered for further tariff cuts in 1964 was declared to be urgent in testimony presented by Edwin E. Marsh, executive secretary, National Wool Growers association and trade information committee.

Harvest Is Sub-Normal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The foreign agricultural service estimates world potato production in 1963 at 5,500,000,000 hundredweight, up 174 per cent from 1962 but six per cent below the 1963-64 average.

The Soviet Union was the largest producer, with almost 1.5 billion hundredweight. Poland was second with 814.6 million hundredweight. Other high-volume producers were West Germany, 668.8 million hundredweight; France, 544.8 million hundredweight; United States, 514.1 million hundredweight; East Germany, 344.1 million hundredweight; United Kingdom, 144.4 million hundredweight; and Czechoslovakia, 136 million hundredweight.

Marsh said, "As a result of duty reductions on wool in 1964 and changes in our economy, the tariff today is only 30 to 35 per cent of the market value whereas it was formerly heavier and almost prohibitive. The United States has already made a most substantial sacrifice for the benefit of foreign countries shipping wool here."

The wool association official also testified that the U.S. tariff commission, in a 1954 investigation, recommended to use protection that tariff duties on raw wool be substantially increased. He said this recommendation was not carried out, but instead congress passed the national wool act, with tariff duties half of the already reduced levels.

Marsh stated "it is essential that no further tariff cuts on wool be made if the wool act is to operate successfully."

Marsh also expressed great concern over possible reductions of duties on wool fabrics and textile imports.

He said, "Continuation of the present tariff on domestic wool products is vital in view of present efforts to solve the problem of competing and unusually rising imports."

"This is essential in view of the economic losses already suffered by our domestic mills from the port competition and the fact that the domestic sheep industry must rely on domestic wool for the use of its raw product."

Harvest's Not Over in Tuttle Area as
Corn Is Combined Despite Weather

TUTTLE, Jan. 10 — City folk weather, Maude has built a cab, the machine to use it for combining corn. He also does custom grain combining. He has a John Deere 45 regular grain combine and can work during the rain. (Times-News photo)

Tuttle, Their four children are grown except for one daughter, who attends Hagerman high school. Maude believes a lot of growers irrigate their corn too much during the growing season and this makes for lower yields. Several fields this year have averaged 200 bushels to the acre.

It points out the corn must not contain more than 45 per cent moisture and 20 per cent of test is considered better. Any corn with more than 15 per cent moisture must be dried before storing.

The corn is taken to a Buhi firm where a grain drier is used. Samples of the corn usually are taken to an elevator or warehouse by the grower and tested for moisture.

Maude combines two rows at a time and says a good stand of corn 100 bushels easily can be harvested in an hour. Three rows are needed to haul the corn from the combine in the Tuttle area to Buhi.

He has combined corn with as much as three inches of snow on the ground and can work as long as the temperature is above freezing. He says the corn will be in the bin at the Buhi firm by the time the rain has stopped.

Butter War Erupts in Europe Area

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—They are having a butter war along the Dutch-Belgian border with such things as guns, armored cars, smoke bombs and powerful teargas, according to a United Press International dispatch from Brussels.

Smuggling of butter is an age-old practice. Netherlands butter is the highest priced in the world for a sale of roughly 13 cents a pound. Although customs officials are getting about 70 tons per year, many more tons get through.

Despite the European Common Market that has cut trade barriers between member nations, butter is still on the "reserved list" subject to import quotas. That's where the smuggling comes in, says UPI.

The butter-runners, according to Dutch customs, sometimes crash through customs posts in armored vehicles; sometimes use snipers' rifles and searchlights to blind pursuers.

Idaho Pea Production Shows Rise

BOISE, Jan. 10.—The 1963 production of dry peas (excluding Alaska peas) for Idaho is estimated at 1,054,000 bags, 100 pounds clean basis, according to the crop reporting service.

Production at this level is two per cent greater than last year's crop of 1,021,000 bags and 64 per cent more than the five-year average.

This is the largest crop since 1956. Yield this year averaged 1,650 pounds per acre for a new record high compared to 1,500 pounds last year and the 1957-61 average of 1,175 pounds per acre.

Harvested acre at 113,000 compares with 131,000 acres harvested in 1962 and the five-year average of 103,000 harvested acres. The production of Alaska and other small crops accounted for 1,000,000 bags compared to 800,000 bags in 1962. The crops of white Canada and other white and yellow kinds decreased from 278,000 bags in 1962 to 155,000 bags in 1963.

Other kinds, principally winter and spring garden peas, produced 877,000 bags to 810,000 bags this year.

Plantings were made in most areas, particularly in the major north Idaho area, by cool weather crops. The season was earlier than the spring and summer favored growth and development.

Dry conditions the latter part of the growing season in Idaho reduced supplies were adequate in most areas, but in southern Idaho, the season was earlier than the spring and summer favored growth and development.

Hail storms during August also caused extensive damage to pea crops in southern Idaho.

Production of dry peas in 1963, according to the U.S. National Supply, totaled 4,749,000 bags, 100 pounds, clean basis for seed, which is a record for the state, but 32 per cent above the 1957-61 average.

"Alaska" peas are the leading class with production of 2,661,000 bags, or 29 per cent of the year's crop.

Production of "Canada" peas totaled 1,054,000 bags, a decrease of 23 per cent from a year earlier. "Other" kinds of peas, mostly garden peas for seed, with a production of 947,000 bags, are down 34 per cent from 1962.

The United States average yield of 1,495 pounds per acre is a record high, exceeding the previous high set in 1957 by two per cent and is 24 per cent above the average.

All pea producing states, except North Dakota, reported above average yields for 1963. In Washington, the principal dry pea producing state, the average yield was 1,500 pounds per acre, compared to the 1957-61 average of 1,175 pounds per acre.

Alaska's production of 1,000,000 bags is a record high, exceeding the previous high set in 1957 by two per cent and is 24 per cent above the average.

Harvested acre is 113,000 acres, down six per cent from 1962 but six per cent above average.

Department Considers Cotton Laws

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The agriculture department is considering a voluntary acreage diversion program for cotton, somewhat like the feed grain program, to reduce the surplus of cotton in the market.

The department sought the advice of the cotton advisory committee on the proposed acreage reduction program. If the advisory committee agrees, the agency may ask congress for enabling legislation. Action would have to be quick. If the 1964 crop is to be affected, because cotton planting usually is completed in March.

The department has not worked out details of the proposed diversion program, but a spokesman said the payments probably would be based on 10 cents per pound of cotton, which would be in the neighborhood of $40 to $50 per acre, depending on region, land productivity, and the like.

Dairy Herd Classified

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Jan. 10.—Twenty-seven Holstein cows of the University of Idaho dairy herd have been classified for type, according to Richard H. Ross, dairy science department head.

Ross received notification of the classifications in a letter from the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Three of the university cows were classified as "very good," 19 were classified as "good," and five as "fair." Ross reported that the program is continuing operation since 1959, providing the official means of comparing the conformation of living animals with that of the True-Type Holstein cow or bull.

ADDITIONAL FACILITIES of the Twin Falls county weed bureau are being constructed adjoining the existing county weed building on Sixth avenue west in Twin Falls. The 46- by 50-foot metal building will house the shop and provide additional storage for chemicals. In the old shop the spraying trucks were too large to get inside the door so men could work on the equipment. The old shop will be converted into a storage area for liquid chemicals. (Times-News photo)

WORK IS PROGRESSING on the construction of a new building for the Twin Falls county weed bureau. Fred Moore, director of the bureau, is inspecting some of the concrete work.

No Shooting Weed Bureau Constrains Additional Work Facilities

KING, IDAHO, Jan. 10.—Fred Moore, manager of the King Hill Irrigation district, has issued a warning to anyone who is considering a shooting range in the area. Moore said that the shooting range is not only a nuisance but also a danger to the public. He said that the shooting range is a violation of the law and that anyone who is caught shooting in the area will be fined and imprisoned.

The new building is being constructed adjoining the existing county weed building on Sixth avenue west, Twin Falls.

The aluminum building will house the shop and provide storage facilities for chemicals and equipment. The existing building will be used to store liquid chemicals.

Savage noted that weed-spraying time is not far away and urged county farmers to consider a weed control program in their spring operations.

"Last year was a tremendous year for weeds throughout Twin Falls county. The wet spring made it possible for farmers to get into their fields and when they did, weeds were a problem for many county farmers," Moore said.

The poisonous weed list will be announced later, but Savage said that there would be no change in the list.

In many parts of the county there is an upgrowth of noxious weeds, particularly in the "gum cherry" and "Knapweed" fields. This is always a problem with farmers throughout the country.

Savage reminds farmers that the county weed bureau has information, chemicals and spraying units available for use by Twin Falls county farmers and they should take advantage of the facility.

Pepper Harvest Tops Prior Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The 1963 pepper harvest in the United States was the largest since 1957, according to the U.S. National Supply. The total production was 1,054,000 bags, 100 pounds clean basis, compared to 1,021,000 bags in 1962 and 877,000 bags in 1961.

The production of Alaska and other small crops accounted for 1,000,000 bags compared to 800,000 bags in 1962. The crops of white Canada and other white and yellow kinds decreased from 278,000 bags in 1962 to 155,000 bags in 1963.

Other kinds, principally winter and spring garden peas, produced 877,000 bags to 810,000 bags this year.

Poultry Group Forecasts Good Start for Broilers

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—"Broiler" marketing during the first half of 1964 are expected to average substantially above year earlier levels, U. S. farm prices may average 14 to 14.5 cents, about one cent below the same period of 1963.

"If farm egg prices are expected to average one to two cents below year earlier levels, U. S. farm prices may average 14 to 14.5 cents, about one cent below the same period of 1963.

The 1964 turkey crop is expected to be three to five per cent above 1963. U. S. farm prices during September-December, 1964 are likely to be one or only slightly below prices for the September-December period of 1963.

These are the highlights of the 28th quarterly poultry survey forecast compiled from the results of intensive two-day deliberations by five leading poultry economists: Dr. Ralph L. Baker, Ohio State University; Dr. Alan D. Parker, University of California; Dr. William R. Jenkins, North Carolina State University; Dr. Richard L. Kohn, Purdue University; and Dr. Henry L. Meade, Michigan State University. Economists from industry and USDA were also present.

The organization of the Poultry Survey Committee is co-sponsored by American Feed Manufacturers Association and National Turkey Federation.

Mice Problem Reported for Jerome Area

REPORTED, Jan. 10.—W. O. Priest reported that 20,000 pounds of poisoned mouse bait was distributed by the Jerome county extension office between July 22 and Dec. 1, 1963. This is enough to treat between 4,000 and 8,000 acres of land.

During the latter part of July the meadow mouse population in the Jerome county area was reported to be out of control and the infestation was being a pest to the area. There had been no indication that they are dying from natural causes.

Unless conditions change over the winter and early spring months, farmers can look for more of the same trouble next year, he concluded.

Gem-Price Index Records Slump

BOISE, Jan. 10.—The 1963 index of prices received by Idaho farmers was 241 per cent of the 1910-14 average, according to the crop reporting service.

This was one per cent at three per cent below the 1962 index and six per cent below the Dec. 18 index of 1962.

The decline from last month was attributed to a decline in livestock and livestock products of three per cent. The all crops index rose slightly but not enough to offset the drop in livestock.

The all crops index at 241 per cent was two points above the 1962 index of 239 per cent and five per cent below the Dec. 18 index of 1962.

Hog Cholera Rapid Test Is Studied

AMES, Ia., Jan. 10.—A rapid, chemical test for hog cholera, a disease that costs producers 50 million dollars a year, has been developed by U. S. department of agriculture scientists at the national animal disease laboratory.

This relatively inexpensive and easily performed test, which must now be proved, would make it possible to detect the disease in a matter of hours.

The new one-day test was developed by Dr. William O. Johnson, of Ames, Iowa, and Dr. James P. Torrey of USDA's agricultural research service.

Here, briefly, is how it works: A culture containing tissue from a suspect hog is treated with a combination of fluorescent, dye and anti-hog cholera serum. Infected cells retain the dye-serum and are readily distinguished from uninfected cells.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (U.S. Press)—The budget President Johnson will soon submit offers business men two cross currents to assess.

1. By phasing out the 1964 fiscal year's deficit, the cut can be cut to half of 1963.

2. By financing new or expanded welfare projects largely through cuts in existing or planned defense spending, the President is speeding the day many businessmen have been wondering about. That is, when the economy will be asked to adjust to a drop in defense spending, which has been increasing fairly steadily for the last 10 years.

If Congress passes the long-debated tax cut, business can plan on saving some tax money itself—and on finding potential customers with more money of their own to spend. Business saving could go into expanded activities or larger dividends. Or even a price cut or two? Greater spending by consumers would boost the economy all along the line.

And also, if the President's arithmetic holds up in the fiscal year starting July 1, and government spending exceeds anticipated tax receipts by only about $5 billion dollars, inflationary aspects of the new budget will be only half that which businessmen had been preparing to take into consideration.

Any opposition to the budget proposals may first develop in the area of cutbacks in defense spending. The plans call for closing some missile making atomic fuel and some military installations dubbed obsolete, and also apparently for cutting back orders for some military hardware.

Even if all the cutbacks are approved by Congress, which has been critical of such proposals in the past, the military budget next fiscal year is still estimated to be around $15 billion dollars, or more than half of the proposed total.

As a prop to today's economy it will remain strong.

As a forerunner of further cutbacks to come, it will furnish industry as well as government a challenge.

Most business thinking today is that such cutbacks will be gradual, allowing individual companies and communities needed time to adjust.

Most businessmen applaud any aiming at frugality in Washington, even when they suspect the final results may fall short of the aims. Do they welcome the President's surprise budget? Their reservations concern how the details will be worked out.

Snow Survey Report Made

JEROME, Jan. 10—Snow survey figures of Jan. 1, 1964, show that the water content of the snow on the Snake river watershed is about 72 per cent of normal, according to Douglas Fishelburg, manager of the North Side Canal company.

This compares to less than 50 per cent of normal a year ago, and 100 per cent two years ago, he said. The soil moisture content is believed to be quite favorable this year.

The total reservoir content in Jackson Lake Park and American Falls is slightly less than a year ago, he said. While the present water outlook for this year is better than last, the officials of the canal company feel the situation is not too optimistic, and that the amount of precipitation the next three months will determine the water supply for 1964, he said.

College Dean to Talk at Banquet

BUIH, Jan. 10—Borj Marin, dean of college letters and sciences of the University of Idaho, will be the featured speaker for the annual Buhl Chamber of Commerce banquet meeting slated for 7:30 p.m. Jan. 17 at the Buhl and at banquet room here. It was announced today by Lloyd Byrne, Chamber secretary.

Byrne noted advance ticket sale for the event are under way and pointed out seating space in the banquet room is for 150 persons. Tickets will not be sold beyond this capacity.

Charles Luntz, chairman of the Chamber's agriculture committee, reports the annual feed-tour for this area is set for Feb. 8.
